Liebestraume.

The sunset gold to violet fades,
Whit, through the memorials glades,
A breeze goes whispering its delight;
As it were a dream's night.
For listen how a nightingale
Waken a song, so passing sweet,
That far away its echoes fall
The stars of heaven to greet!

Ah, such a joy of melody
On this earth may never rest!
Such yearning for infinity,
Sure, must go a farther quest!
Its highest note we shall not know,
That strange, wondrous tone of joy,
Which, in the perfect blue above,
Quivers at the feet of Love!

Weddings of To-day.

After the rehearsal for their double wedding, Miss Marie Sophie, better known as Miss Rhea Menzel, her sister, Miss Martha Emille Menzel; their respective bridesmaids, Dr. Benjamin Lawrence Tallafra, of this city, and the Rev. Timothy Lehman, of St. John's German Evangelical Church, Baltimore, were given in reception in the home of the Rev. Paul L. Menzel, No. 714 East Marshall Street, last evening. Those present included the bride party, Miss Lily Menzel, Miss Marie Menzel, Mr. Lee Meagher, Mr. Victor Menzel, Dr. Fulmer Bright, Dr. Williams, Mr. Dudley P. Edwards, Mr. Charles Rieger, Mr. Louis Miller, Mr. Albert Pohlitz, the church choir, and a number of out-of-town guests, among them relatives and intimate friends of the contracting parties.

The double wedding ceremony will be performed at 5 P. M. to-day by the father of the brides, the Rev. Paul L. Menzel, in St. John's German Evangelical Church, Richmond.

A beautiful forenoon wedding of to-day will be the marriage of Miss Levia Bookler Leary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David W. Leary, of "Westwood," Amelia county, to Mr. Peter Winston, son of Professor Charles Winston, of Richmond College, one of the best known educators in Virginia.

Mrs. James E. Taylor, sister of the bride, will be her matron of honor. Her bridesmaids will be her cousins, Miss Nora Leary and Miss Nannie Patton, of Richmond; Miss Minna Finney, of Washington, D. C.; Miss Mattie Bookler and Miss Mary Bookler, of Amelia; Miss Julia Lane, of Potomac; and married Leary, the bride's cousin, Miss Daisy Winston, of Baltimore, without the groom.

A number of the Rev. Now Students of Miss Leary and Leary. The out-of-town guests will bring plenty and city here when the wedding ceremony will be performed and society will be a charming member.

White-Caport News

The wedding of Miss L. L. Demore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Demore, of No. 1010 N. Main Street, to Mr. Anson W. Demore, of New York City, is possible Tuesday evening. The ceremony is to be held at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. J. L. Demore, at No. 1010 N. Main Street, at 7 o'clock.

The church wedding ceremony will be performed at 11 A. M. to-day by the Rev. J. L. Demore, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. J. L. Demore, at No. 1010 N. Main Street. The bride is Miss L. L. Demore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Demore, of No. 1010 N. Main Street. The groom is Mr. Anson W. Demore, of New York City. The ceremony is to be held at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. J. L. Demore, at No. 1010 N. Main Street, at 11 A. M.

The bride entered the church and walked to the altar where the groom and his best man, met her with her father, Mr. H. M. Catlin. She was beautifully gowned in white crepe de chine, built upon taffeta, trimmed upon skirt and corsage with Princess lace and worn with a tulle veil, fastened with sprays of lily of the valley. A shower of the same formed the bridal bouquet. With her ornaments, the bride wore an exquisite diamond crown, the gift of the bridegroom.

A reception to the bride party followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Richards left last evening for an extended northern tour. They will reside in future in New York. Mr. Richards being associated in business with Maxwell, Manning and Moore, an influential New York house.

Mrs. Richards is a cultured, refined and lovely young woman, who has many friends in Richmond to regret her departure for a new home. The array of wedding gifts, especially in silver and cut-glass, was both varied and choice. Among the guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Richards of the groom's family, from New York.

Lewis-Wardwell.

W. T. C. Wardwell, is given in marriage to Mr. John Taylor Lewis, of Clarksville, Va., son

LINEN HANDKERCHIEFS.

Hundreds of dozens from an Irish Maker. It was a lucky purchase for us, but more so for you. Come in and buy your whole summer supply. You can depend on it they will not be here long.

6c for Sheer Linen Handkerchiefs that you have always paid 10c to 12 1-2c for.

9c for Women's Fine Linen Handkerchiefs that are ordinarily a bargain at $2 a dozen.

10c for Men's Linen Handkerchiefs that are worth a half more to double our price.

And so for the balance of over a thousand dozens.

25c PERSIAN LAWNS, 15c.

This is one of the White Goods reasons for coming to Cohen's, the wonder White Goods store.

Here are one or two others:

30c for 65c Embroidered Swiss. It is one of the handsomest of this season's importations.

12 1-2c for 10c to 25c Dotted Swiss. Some are the handsome figured effects.

38c for 65c French Black Batiste. It is 50 inches wide and is a splendid bargain that you'll look in vain for elsewhere.

ON THE HEADLAND.

By BAYARD TAYLOR.

Other selections from this author, his portrait, autograph and biographical sketch, have already been printed in this series.

SIT on the lonely headland,
Where the sea-gulls come and go;
The sky is gray above me,
And the sea is gray below.

There is no fisherman's pinnace
Homeward or outward bound;
I see no living creature
In the world's deserted round.

I pine for something human,
Man, woman, young or old,—
Something to meet and welcome,
Something to clasp and hold.

I have a mouth for kisses,
But there's no one to give and take;
I have a heart in my bosom
Beating for nobody's sake.

O warmth of love that is wasted!
Is there none to stretch a hand?
No other heart that hungers
In all the living land?

I could fondle the fisherman's baby,
And rock it into rest;
I could take the sunburnt sailor,
Like a brother, to my breast.

I could clasp the hand of any
Outcast of land or sea,
If the guilty palm but answered
The tenderness in me!

The sea might rise and drown me,—
Cliffs fall and crush my head,—
Were there one to love me, living,
Or weep to see me dead!

of the late John Taylor Lewis, of Mecklenburg county, this State.

The Rev. Dr. George L. Locke, rector of St. Michael's, will perform the ceremony. The church will be beautifully decorated in white and green, palms and flowers being used most effectively at the altar. The bride party will enter to the wedding chorus from Lohengrin. Mendelssohn's march will be the recessional and several cornet solos will add to the beauty of the musical programme.

Miss Marguerite Wardwell, sister of the bride, will be maid of honor. The bridesmaids, six in number, will be Miss Alice Bourn; Miss Isabella Bosworth, Miss Patty Rockwell, all of Bristol; Miss Charlotte Field, of Barrington, R. I.; Miss Anna Morgan, of New York, and Miss Bessie M. Allen, of Flushing, L. I. Mr. George Thomas Lewis, brother of the bride, will be her best man. Mr. Frederick Harrison Fairchild, of Brooklyn; Dr. Frederick Williams and Mr. Frederick Pillsbury Gladding, of Bristol; Mr. John G. Canfield, and Mr. George W. Kingsbury, of Providence, and Mr. Thomas Chalmers Haine, of New York, will attend him as groomsmen.

The bride will present her maids each with a pearl brooch. The groom's gift to his attendants will be amethyst scarf pins. The maid of honor will wear white silk tulle, trimmed in Valenciennes lace, a white hat with plumes and will carry pink carnations. The bridesmaids will be in pink silk tulle, with garniture of lace and shirtings of the tulle, pink hats and have pink carnation bouquets.

The bride will come in with her father, Mr. W. T. C. Wardwell, and be given away by him. She will be gowned in white messaline cut en train and trimmed with Duchesse lace and chiffon. Her veil will be caught with sprays of orange blossoms and her flowers will be bride roses and her only ornament, a diamond and pearl brooch, the bridegroom's gift. A reception will be given immediately after the ceremony at the home of the bride, for which about three hundred invitations have been issued. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis will spend their honeymoon at the Greenbrier White Sulphur Springs and make their home at Clarksville, Va. Wedding gifts received testifying to the remembrance of many relatives and friends were numerous and elegant.

An Enjoyable Occasion.

The beautiful country home of Mr. W. A. Perrow was the scene of much pleasure on Thursday evening, June 22, when the young ladies of Early's Chapel Methodist Church gave a comic opera, entitled "The Sweet Family."

Those taking part were Miss Willie Cardwell, as "Ma Sweet," and her ten daughters—Misses Reva Cardwell, Lula Tweedy, May Evans, Irene Perrow, Kate Cardwell, Mary Hunter, Ann Cardwell, Virgie Perrow, Annie Hunter and Bethel Evans.

Just before Ma Sweet sprang all this loveliness on the people the play was introduced in a very eloquent manner by Mr. A. R. Martin.

The talent displayed in the presentation of this play reflected much credit on the young ladies taking part.

The stage, underneath two stately oaks, was tastefully decorated with ferns and daisies, lighted with Japanese lanterns, presenting a beautiful scene.

The crowd began to gather about 6 o'clock, and soon the yard and lawn were dotted with laughing children, bright-faced young couples and smiling old folks while merry peals of laughter, as a chorus to the gentler voices were wafted above and softened by the way-lining branches of the massive oaks.

About 8:15 the crowd was reminded to secure their places for the play, and soon the ushers were busy finding seats.

After the opera the Rev. Dr. G. C. Butts, of Centenary Church, Lynchburg, gave an address on missions, at the conclusion of which Miss Hattie Franklin sang a solo.

Later in the evening light refreshments, consisting of cake, ices, fruits, etc., were served.

At about 12 o'clock the happy crowd dispersed, expressing themselves as having spent a most delightful evening.

FASHION HINTS.

LADIES' SURPLICE WAIST.

No. 3203.—The shirred blouse effects seen everywhere owe their extended vogue to their universal "becomingness."

The design here pictured is developed in cream colored voile, trimmed with embroidered tulle, bands, and finished with V shaped yoke of embroidery.

The fullness on the shoulders is taken up in shirtings or tiny plaits that throw a becoming fullness over the bust. Closing is effected in front in surplice style, and the full two-piece sleeves are gathered on both seams near the armholes.

Colloenne, foulard, soft silk, batiste, crepe de chine, drape Lede and wool goods are suitable materials for development.

The pattern is set in six sizes—32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches, bust measure. For the 38-inch size, 2 1-4 yards of material, 36 inches wide, are required.

Those patterns can be gotten at The Cohen Company for 10c.—Adv.

GREENE-GAYNOR APPEAL DENIED

Supreme Court of Canada Unanimously Grants Motion of U. S. Government.

(By Associated Press.)

OTTAWA, Ont., June 27.—The Supreme Court to-day unanimously granted the motion made in behalf of the government of the United States to quash the judgment of the Court of King's Bench, affirming the refusal of a writ of prohibition by Judge Davidson against the issue of a warrant for extradition. The appeal was quashed with costs.

The Court of King's Bench of Quebec gave judgment in favor of the government of the United States in the appeal of Greene and Gaynor against the decision of the Supreme Court of Ottawa against that decision. The Supreme Court has decided that there is no appeal, and consequently the decision of the Quebec court to hand these men over stands. The case now goes back to the Court of King's Bench.

(By Associated Press.)

MONTREAL, June 27.—The question of jurisdiction in the Gaynor-Greene case was argued before Judge Quimel, of the Court of King's Bench, to-day, and continued until Friday, when it is expected judgment will be given.
